

Special problems of actuarial mathematics

My current research involves work with the actuarial mathematics. Since I was unfamiliar with this subject, I have started to work on the book of Harry Panjer. The plan is to look at the ruin theory and find the probability of the ruin according to the different distributions of the claims. I have been working on it for 1 month and I will finish that project until May.